

“The ambrosial Dharma I obtained is profound, immaculate, luminous, and unconditioned.
Even if I explain it, no one will understand.
I think I shall remain silent in the forest.
That which is free from words cannot be understood through words,
likewise, the nature of phenomena is like space,
totally free of the movements of mind and intellect.”